

1. Introduction

- Abbreviations That Will Be Used
- Chart Basics
- The Tools for the Charts
- Multiple Timeframes

2. The Building Blocks

- Japanese Candlesticks
- An Advanced Look at Candles
- Two Candles Can Make a Pattern
- Multiple Candles Can Make a Pivot
- Pivots Can Make Trends

3. A Closer Look at Trends

- Analyzing Price Movement
  - Key 1 - The Price Cycle
  - Key 2 – The Only Three Directions of Price
- DTS Stages Two and Four
- DTS Stages One and Three
- Combining the Two Key Price Movements
- Bases –Reversals versus Pauses
- Transitional Analysis
- Prices Can Only Move in 7 Total Ways

4. The Key Strategies

- DTS Buy/Sell Setup in Stages 2 & 4
- DTS Buy/Sell Setup in Stages 1 & 3
- DTS Buy/Sell Setup when Climactic
- DTS Breakouts / Breakdowns

5. Key Strategies in Transitions and Outside the Price Cycle

- Entry Strategies in Transitions A / C
- Entry Strategies in Transitions B / D
- The Continuation Buy/Sell Setup
- The Engulfing Bull and Bear180

6. Support and Resistance

- The First Reference Point – A Candle
- The Second Reference Point – A Pivot
- Major Support & Resistance
- Minor Support & Resistance
- The Mattress Affect
- The Third Reference Point – Overlaps
- Evaluation All Support and Resistance Areas

7. Multiple Timeframes

General Comments

Smaller Timeframes Interact With Larger
Pattern Failure Due to Higher Timeframe
Pattern Failure Due to Lower Timeframe
Zooming Down Timeframes

8. The Market

Market Stocks

Timing With the Market

Rules to NEVER Break

Market Internals

9. Relative Strength

- Relative to What
- Good and Bad Relative Strength

10. Closing Comments

- Putting it All Together
- Remember Trading Plans – Money and Trade Management
- Psychology Matter More Than You Believe
- After Mastering the Basics