Mastering Advanced Tactics - One Day Course

This course is a follow up to the 'Mastering Technical Analysis' course. While it takes some training and expertise to be able to identify price patterns that have predictable moves, the truth is that many who learn this still struggle to make money. As much skill as it takes, great chart readers are still 'a dime a dozen' because many fail to put the money in the account. That is what this class is about. It teaches advanced techniques to improve entries dramatically. It also teaches advanced tactics to manage positions better to maximize profit while keeping emotions in check. Ever sell too early? It teaches incredible techniques to better manage exits at either a target or a stop. These tactics are often what take a break-even trader and make them a profitable one.

It is recommended that there be a delay before taking the advanced course as it is truly a very advanced course and will not be absorbed by someone who has not had some experience in the market. The 'Mastering Technical Analysis' course is a prerequisite for this course.
